This book will entertain you like no other, a horror book for all ages. This is just a funny horror book like so many, but this one takes a different tack.

This one is about a clumsy death.

I hear you think *what is a clumsy death?

Now we're going to find out together. For even death has difficulty in reaping and sowing unless it has completed its training. Yes, now I have caught your interest, huh?

Even death has been trained to harvest his/her souls well, but as with everything there are always exceptions in education. And this book is about such a hard-learner and a bit of a limping death. A mower like none. But also a mower that you might close to your heart. Because let's be honest:

Life is the greatest hell, but life can also be just as beautiful as death itself! And all our sins are not added up until we have bitten the dust. So live without fear of the future, even though no one knows exactly what it will bring. Because you only get one chance to make up for all your sins and mistakes in life!

This book is about Hein and Hein is a hard worker but at school..... At school that's a different story! It's 2022 when Hein turns in his last schoolwork for the first time and gets hit by a flying projectile on the way home, well what is that exactly I would tell you that even Hein doesn't know or saw that coming as he sees his soul rising up and his body remains there on the ground....

Now don't think that Hein even noticed a few or that he had pain or something, no Hein feels free and uninhibited for the first time in a completely different existence than what he is used to because he does come in a long line are on the way to his final resting place, but Hein wouldn't be Hein if he didn't get into mischief during the eternal wait. This is how he ties the laces of his predecessors together so that when the line finally starts moving forward they go hard!

But nobody can laugh at the jokes and after a while of mischief it is also Hein's turn to stand in front of the gate of the angels, but the gatekeeper Peter quickly says:

Hein, thanks to all your jokes you go to school for discipline and respect to teach others! We are going to train you to be a reaper and you will be nicknamed the Grim Reaper because look at yourself when was the last time you had anything to eat?

Before hein can say anything, shadow hands come around him and his environment changes into a schoolroom.. He thinks ah no hey from the rain in the drop but it soon becomes clear to him that this is a completely different school. This school is about the harvesting of souls of man, just as was done to him....

The teacher is a much too old sourpuss who can make everything move and even Hein can pull him towards him with nothing but his fingertips! Hein has no control over it as his soul is wrapped in a black cloak, and he has a corkscrew pressed into his hands!

What am I supposed to do with this? But the teacher makes it clear that he has to pull the soul of a fish out of a fishbowl with the corkscrew as the first assignment, he immediately gets a baptism of fire! And as the teacher opens a portal and kicks him through it, he falls with his whole body straight through the fishbowl, clutching the corkscrew convulsively! He stands up and hits the water wildly with the corkscrew, but the corkscrew goes straight through the fish, then he gets angry, I should be able to do this and he hits the water with his hand after which the fish floats up and Hein sees his soul to a giant pond full of carp and sturgeon and other giant fish.

He can see that the fish is happier than in that small fishbowl and he thinks yes I can get used to this!

Then the portal opens again and he is swallowed up as if the opening in the ceiling is a giant vacuum cleaner. He is back in the classroom where he originally was and the teacher shakes his head. He taps his desk with his long black fingers and says nothing but the look in his eyes is ice and ice cold!

The students are terrified of him as he stomps and rages with anger, Hein has done something wrong but what exactly???

You will find out tomorrow, sleep well and see you tomorrow!

The sequel of Hein the clumsy death!

Yesterday we found out that Hein made a mistake harvesting that fish, but we'll find out together today which one, so hold on to your duvet well and firmly because the teacher was not happy with Hein and his way of harvesting!

Why only the teacher knows but he points with his black and blunt nail at the cupboard in the back of the classroom and as the door opens Hein is sucked in by a Force that is even too strong for a roller coaster! The door closes and Hein tries to get out of the closet in fear, but it is pitch and pitch dark while the door is further and further away from him.

Each step in the closet causes the closet door to slide three meters and after about twenty steps Hein decides to crawl while the students laugh at him, he hears them laughing from the eternal emptiness but crawling he reaches the door and with an outstretched arm he opens the door after which he stands in a kind of meadow with bunches of grapes...

He hears the teacher say in a deep voice:

FIND YOUR SOUL HERE AND THE LESSON CONTINUES!

Hein floats through the air and finds out that this is a vineyard and the moment an old man struggles to stand on his feet, Hein thinks he has found his soul but when he gets close to the man the man runs away scared! Afraid of the black form that Hein is, he can run fast. He looks like a greyhound and Hein has great difficulty keeping up with him as he hears the teacher laughing hard and hard..

This is his soul, and nothing can stop him! He'll show that teacher what he can do and he takes his corkscrew from his black cloak, okay, now what?

He sees a building and there all bottles have been collected, exhausted from floating, he picks up a bottle and pulls the cork from the bottle after which he throws the cork at the man with all his strength.

The man falls over and Hein sees his soul ascending upwards, then Hein floats to the ascending soul and says tired but satisfied:

Nananananaaa

Another portal forms above him and he is swallowed up again, and when he is again in the classroom the teacher angrily looks at him with red glowing coals for eyes. He is expelled from school after the first day and he finds himself back at the flying missile site and sees his parents and friends standing around him as the paramedics try to resuscitate him.

He feels shocks in his chest and he feels his heart start beating again the moment he is sucked back into his body...

His family and friends are overjoyed but he remembers everything and hears the voice of the teacher:

WE LOVE YOU KNOW HEIN YOU LEARN BEST WITHOUT KNOWING WHAT YOU'RE DOING!

The days fly by morning school afternoon home dinner night sleep and repeat and repeat, but Hein actually liked to harvest souls you help people in one way or another. But Hein does not know that when he is asleep he rises from his bed and makes the biggest mistakes that a reaper can make...

And reaper must always have respect for his soul, a reaper may never harvest the wrong soul and a reaper must keep his form a secret at all times but Hein has said it to so many friends and Hein has no respect for his souls because he just likes it too much...

The only thing Hein hasn't done yet is harvesting the wrong soul, but everything else has already gone wrong that could go wrong! It is evening and Hein falls asleep after which his soul rises in a different form! He is on a construction site somewhere abroad and he hears the teacher say:

GEORGE

Will Hein be able to find George and harvest without fail this time?

You'll find out tomorrow,
sleep tight!

The second sequel of Hein the clumsy death!

The first mistake Hein makes is tripping over his cloak and making a huge amount of noise that makes every construction worker wary, because a noise of unknown origin means intruders on the construction site and that means thieves!

They all look past Hein searchingly, except for one construction worker, a road worker who doesn't know where to look. Hein has no weapons with him but flies towards him, that must be George! He flies through the construction workers as if they are nothing more than air..

They all feel the cold as he flies towards George with purpose, George asks and screams for help but they all look at him like he is crazy, that's the attention who just can't use Hein right now who says a must also say b! Anyone who starts something has to finish it, literally this time!

About the same as eating vegetables you may say you do it but only have an eye for the meat, but whoever says a must also say b and not words but deeds so eat those vegetables!

In this way Hein flies towards George who does not know how to give himself an attitude and throws wildly with vowels and tiles at Hein that go right through him.

It's a new neighborhood and the construction workers are installing a water drain and drainpipe on the balcony, he can use that! So to keep the peace, he flies up to the balcony and hides!

Did I mention this was a clumsy death? Well I wasn't kidding because while the construction workers place the downspout in the water drain, Hein gets sucked into the downspout and fires out like a cannon causing him to bounce like a cannonball and a pinball machine all over the construction site!

Yeah that wasn't so smart was it!

And as he bounces from wall to wall and from house to house he ends up in the cement mixer of the masons who grind it together with the cement and he is stuck in a huge mound of cement which is dumped on the back of a truck!

He sees the construction site moving further and further away from him until the construction site is out of sight as the truck drives away!

That wasn't smart at all!

Then he wakes up and the day starts all over again without remembering anything but he has never woken up so dizzy!

Hein, Hein, Hein you never learn? When will it become clear that you can't just do everything you want if you have the power or means... Hein is like so many children who don't listen and just stubborn and stubborn do his own thing!

But what his teacher tried to make clear is that even the most inexperienced mower can mow and unfortunately his teacher looks back on that sadly because he sees everything Hein does and sometimes even his teacher gets a smile on his mouth from the mistakes he makes !

But will he ever figure out how to mow quietly and unobtrusively? Because the fish and the old man also succeeded but when there is no help or trust nobody can do anything as it should because only with trust in each other and respect for each other everyone can get everything done! All he needs is a helping hand in the right direction, but will he get it?

You'll find out tomorrow,
sleep tight!

The third sequel of Hein the Clumsy Death!

We learned yesterday that Hein is not really a very good mower or do you disagree with me? He would be a pinball hero, but to say that he can harvest, that is debatable..... But all in all, everyone has had to learn everything, even the supreme boogeyman is far from finished learning and I am already 2900 yes boogeyman years have passed by like no other!

Where did I want to go again oh Hein euhh what were we talking about what did he do again? Sorry guys I totally lost it. It was something with a pinball machine right? And a cement mixer and a truck and a construction site where an angry road worker walked???

Something like that right? Yes I know again now let's move on then, Sorry for the delay!

So Hein wakes up dizzy bla bla bla goes to school where he falls asleep again like everyone else and after which he is sent to the headmaster, because school is just important and believe me you don't want to end up as that road worker so you have your diploma' s simply necessary Because road construction is something you need perseverance for that, but road workers are oh so important, actually the entire construction!

But let's fast forward to the point when Hein falls asleep because that's what everyone is interested in, not in his schoolwork or homework or what he has on the plate for dinner...

His sleep is important because then he turns into a dangerous and ruthless mower huhmmm yes yes a ruthless pinball mower just ran away from the dolphin enclosure of the zoo or something! Okay forward forward forward forward pfffft, does a day take such a long time doesn't it? Okay he's in bed, yeah make it up to me now he can't get to sleep..... That's a job for the supreme boogeyman I'll be right back.....

So he's finally sleeping, finally and now I'm tired myself, but let's continue the story!

The portal opens above his bed and he finds himself in a dark city he has never seen before, especially not in the dark... A city without any streetlights..... *I certainly didn't give him a nightmare right? I'm still the supreme boogeyman ...

An unlit city where the cats meow loudly and the street dogs howl to the people who pass by in this ghost town for a little food.. Hein has not yet heard his teacher but knows that he is watching from the reaper verse.. But every step Hein takes he gets more and more afraid of every shadow that passes him.....

Pffffff I gave him a nightmare...

Hein walks anxiously through all the shadows in the ghost town where the people still don't look at each other and he doesn't know what to do, who to harvest or where to stand but his concentration goes to the only red shadow in all the shadowy realm...

His fear disappears from this shadow that looks totally different and she extends her hand that Hein is only too happy to grab it, then his cloak changes into a red one and she tells him to look around... Hein listens, no seriously Hein just listens once and sees a shadow stirring up unrest between the others and the people, he stirs the cats and dogs and thanks to him this unrest is here!

But can Hein harvest the soul of a shadow? Anyway this shadow has to be stopped because if it doesn't go the way it wants it will go the way it goes!

He floats to the troublemaker and grabs him by the neck after which the shadow laughs and grabs Hein in his chest. Hein goes to the ground and trembles in fear of this terrifying troublemaker...

Ah no hey it won't be hey, yes guys I also have no influence on the dreams I give if this turns out to be the end of Hein then I'm sorry!

But something happens. Hein's shape changes completely he keeps his red cloak but he gets bigger and bigger and a scythe starts to form which he carries on his back and an hourglass, the red shadow smiles kindly as Hein gets up and with a big punch make the shadow go up in smoke!

At that moment the street lights come on and the cats stop meowing, the dogs are taken inside where they are all fed and the people are friendly among themselves for the first time!

And all that because of 1 red shadow 1 difference between all evil evil and ruthless raw deus but all they wanted was simply the peace of 1 troublemaker who made life after death unbearable for everyone.

A warm light forms over the city as if the sun is a few kilometers from the earth... And all the shadows rise even the red one difference and while he watches it all proudly he still doesn't understand what has happened!

He wakes up drenched in sweat and feeling euphoric as the new day begins to play, learn and most importantly, listen! whether this night will be the same.....

Y o u w i l l f i n d o u t t o m o r r o w , s l e e p t i g h t !

The penultimate sequel of Hein the clumsy death!

That was yesterday, huh? He saved an entire ghost town, maybe a little because of me... But that's up to you! I say I had nothing to do with it and you can find what you want but Hein only did this! But to continue the story and not give myself a feather in my ass....

So Hein wakes up, goes to school and eats his dinner but we are only interested in his sleep but his sleep is different this time because this time his sleep is different because he wakes up in the classroom where his teacher gets up and claps for him, then all the students follow!

Respect they all respect each and every one of them has he passed? or what happened now? The teacher calls him to him and Hein carefully walks up to the man then he says:

Congratulations from now on you are the Grim Reaper reaper of the souls in need! You have proven yourself even though we thought after that cement mixer that it was impossible so unleash your power and show the class what a real reaper can do!

Hein sees that the teacher is sitting in front of a blackboard that opens and focuses on the blackboard that hits the teacher's head with blood, then Hein focuses on the cupboard the teacher has also locked him in and points with his finger to the cupboard, the teacher yells:

NO, NO, NO HEIN PLEASE!

Then the door closes and Hein is currently a teacher, he sends all students into the world and says learn it in practice, that's much more useful!

All the students are happy as they all pass through another portal, but soon Hein sees an unknown soul enter and 1 more and 1 more and 1 more and 1 and more 1, they are unhinged and harvesting everyone!

Hein can personally lock himself in the same closet for his mistakes, but first the teacher has to get out. When the cabinet opens, the teacher shakes his head in disapproval!

Then a giant portal forms in the ground through which all the teachers and also Hein go! Their mission is to bring the reapers back to school or lock them in the void!

But the mowers are not so easy to find and after a long search, Hein's hourglass starts to glow. There's 1 he floats towards it and swings his scythe making the mower go up in smoke and go back to school. Then his hourglass shines even brighter than before and there are 8 mowers around him! All ready to fight but Hein spins around with his scythe and he turns into a whirlwind or tornado where he swallows all the reapers at once as they all come back to the classroom!

Then Hein changes them into human form and orders them to learn between right and wrong people, right and wrong shadows! A lesson that Hein himself also had to learn the hard way, he had no help from anyone and was all alone...

But so you see that even the difficult-learning student can also become masters because when the teachers all leave the school Hein has already collected them all and they are obediently sitting on their seats listening to the new teacher from the mower school!

something even the teacher himself cannot understand and all because he has listened to that red shade, that sweet red shade!

But what the teacher tells Hein now he can't give a place because there is a monster walking around even worse than that troublemaker from yesterday a real monster and only Hein can save the whole world together with the teachers, she has laid eggs and protects them with all her maternal instinct but those eggs must be broken says the teacher!

Hein scratches his ears. Why should I do that goes through his head and the teacher's answer is simple because you have not yet forgotten the human where we are and the human that is exactly what we need to get that monster off to chase away her eggs! But does Hein also manage to do this because the teacher explains that this is not a normal monster but a Boogity-Boogity monster who ran away from Fearland Feartopia and they swallow everything that is beautiful and sweet and earthy! Does it work? What do you think? Now hold that thought for a moment:

b e c a u s e t o m o r r o w y o u w i l l
f i n d o u t i n t h e l a s t s t o r y !

The last story about Hein the master reaper!

Yes, Hein has come from far, very far from a boy who was bored to death at school and was literally hit by a kind of UFO, an unknown flying object whose origin and origin is unknown.... He was sent as a ghost to the reaper school nicknamed the Grim Reaper where he was sent off to take off in his dreams and make the most stupid mistakes and when I helped him a little (yes I the supreme boogeyman).....

Only then did he begin to listen, he saved a ghost town and became master reaper of the entire class!

But now he faces his toughest task yet—to save the entire world from a Boogity-Boogity monster on eggs...

The monster that even I literally shit the chief ogre for! These are not sweet creatures and they devour and suck up all that is sweet and peaceful until the earth is nothing more than a wasteland filled with black lifeless things and nothing can stop them, these creatures cannot be described with a pen or laptop they are evil and mean, and the only thing that stops them is that I already talked about in my first book, do you know that the nightmares of the children on earth!

But Hein trusts that he can do this job and he opens the portal where the eggs are but immediately a huge tentacle comes out of the portal and drags him down where the Boegedie-Boegedie monster is waiting for him and her jaws are filled with hundreds. if not thousands of teeth dislocated!

The teachers soon follow but no scythe can withstand the strong and devastating tentacles the teachers fall down piece by piece and the Boogity-Boogity monster slides towards them like a gigantic fast slug, but Hein manages to free himself from the grip of the tentacle and halfway through the air slams into the dozens of eyes of the monster screaming in pain...

Hein knows he must try to destroy the eggs now but he is not man enough to do that. They don't all have to be evil, not just because their mother is trying to protect them!

The teachers shout: Destroy the eggs now!

But Hein doesn't mind, especially not when the red shadow shows herself again and puts out her hand again, which Hein grabs without thinking.

At that moment Hein and the red shadow give all children and adults on earth a nightmare at the same time because they themselves see the Boogity- Boogity monster in their sleep, the monster seems to calm down and picks up her eggs with her tentacles and in a flash she is gone!

Those are the powers we possess as bogeymen and that's why we give you nightmares! Because the red shadow is none other than our club's best kept secret and with this secret we as the ogre and the reapers can join forces to make the world a safer place!

Because you wouldn't want such a Boogity-Boogity monster walking around in your backyard, would you? But don't forget the brave hein and how human he was the key to this success! Because if he had completely lost his humanity, the world might have looked very different now! Hein opens the portal to return to the school for the injured teachers but he stays behind and together with the red shadow he watches the sun rise slowly and thanks her for what she has done for him because without her insights and lessons would have been Hein still been the bumbling death instead of the master reaper of today!

The moral of this story

Do you know the moral of this story about a reaper who literally started at the bottom of the ladder? Who didn't know what to do, where to stand or where to go again who has progressed unaided from clumsy death to master reaper in a matter of days? Yeah, not many people can say that, can they? And even the chief bogeyman didn't know that Hein would make it this far, but he did and he did it with conviction... But I'll go on about how he didn't have any help, but what about that red shadow? Right and that's what morality is about! Because if you think you are all alone and there is no one who can or will help you or even see you standing like the people in the ghost town, just think of that red shadow! Because if you have faith in someone who will return your trust, you will see that even you are capable of things you never expected! So the moral of this story is there is always someone who has faith in you, but then you have to listen and give back the trust because believe a 2900 year old supreme boogeyman no one is alone in life, not even you! Sleep tight and until next time!
